Telecommunication services for your business

Hardware, software and virtualization

We know that reliability and efficiency can only be achieved through the careful harmonization of hardware and software. This allows us to offer a virtualization cloud platform with guaranteed performance.

Performance

Virtualization platform performance is precisely adapted to meet your needs. Continuously monitored hardware and cloud infrastructure can recognize problems before they occur, resolving them before problems occur to ensure continuous operations with the guaranteed performance you need for your information and production systems.

Management

Complete management is an integral component of cloud:LINK product. A single click is all you need for operations including setting up a server clone, increasing performance or restoring from a backup from the previous 3 days.

IT efficiency

Your IT will work more efficiently with the cloud:LINK software-as-service product and will be capable of providing solutions to and from anywhere and anytime when combined with application virtualization.

No hardware, no licenses, no wasted investments

cloud:LINK frees you from purchasing hardware and licenses for operating systems and applications. All your payments are transparently combined in a single lump sum fee. As our customer you simply pay for the performance and licenses you actually use.

Migration

Slovanet can help make the process of transmitting data from different platforms such as VMware and Hyper-V simpler. Steps including starting system migration to the installation of controllers are completely automatic.

High availability

We are capable of guaranteeing high availability of up to 99.97 % per month thanks to continuous monitoring and our refined early warning system. Round-the-clock 24/7/365 technical support is provided as a given with the cloud:LINK service.
